To Whom it May Concern:

Love A Child is dedicated to the mission of spreading God's love to the needy children of Haiti. Fulfilling that mission is heavily reliant upon the visibility of our projects and victories in the mission field. Television broadcasting is an important part of our media strategy. For this reason, we are extremely grateful to Walter Warren and Chris Busch, of LightQuest Media.

As Directors and Founders of Love A Child, we also have served in the country of Haiti for over 20 years. Living in a third world country and broadcasting our television programs around the world has been quite a challenge. Our greatest concern has been the ability of Walter Warren and Chris Busch to stay in constant touch with our needs coming from a third world country. We can honestly say that they have been the most sincere people we have ever worked with. They have kept us informed on any and all circumstances which could affect our ability to raise the funds we so desperately needed.

They have "gone the second mile" to travel long distances to meet with us. They have been our voice in the challenges of the media marketplace and we can gladly tell anyone that we trust their advice in every situation. To put it simply, they are some of the best people we have ever worked with and we highly recommend them to anyone at all, who wants to grow their ministry. They will always "put you first."

LightQuest Media has helped us develop and implement our broadcast media strategies both nationally and internationally. In addition, they have recommended and initiated refinements to executing our media programs, which have increased our effectiveness even while helping to control costs.

We are comfortable in depending upon LightQuest Media's expertise, integrity and professionalism in helping us achieve our goals. Love A Child is proud to recommend Chris and Walter's services to anyone seeking a high caliber media resource.

Sincerely,

Bobby Burnette
